David Tsai, M.S., is Co-Managing Partner of the V&E's Taipei office and a Partner in V&E's San Francisco office. David's practice focuses on patent, trade secret, complex breach of contract, and product defect litigation for companies innovating biotechnology, software, and hardware. His legal experience includes defending clients in international arbitration cases, litigating in the areas of copyrights and trademarks, preparing and prosecuting U.S. electrical engineering patent applications, drafting patentability, freedom-to-operate and non-infringement opinions, as well as Inter Partes Review petitions. He also represents clients in patent negotiations, licensing and overall intellectual property strategy. Prior to his legal career, David worked in product management at Internet startups focusing on developing online collaborative communications platforms. David also previously led the product management team for a real-time PCR DNA detection product line and co-developed the first online problem sets at Stanford University.

David has been recognized as a top 50 California Lawyer on the Fast Track by The Recorder, Super Lawyer in Intellectual Property Litigation, and Best Lawyer Under 40 by the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association.

David is fluent in spoken Mandarin and represents over 30 leading China, Taiwan, and Korea based companies. He is a graduate of Harvard, Stanford, and Santa Clara University.
